THE WEEKLY REGISTER.

It is well known that the Weekly Register, from the first appearance of the notorious Regulations of April, 1844, to the present time, has invariably upheld them, and, as a natural consequence, has applauded the acts of my Lord Stanley and Sir G. Gipps. In doing this, however, it is but justice to our contemporary to say that his arguing a peculiarly patient and method in the discussion of mind, and neater or over all with the arguing a peculiarly patient and method in a well allowing of not an hour's relaxation or absence, and requiring a peculiarly patient and method in the commander.

The rent of land and buildings, the interest for only for relax, furnaces, and other appearatus, for only for relax, furnaces, and other appearatus, for only for land and buildings, the interest for the produce being about half, the next profit is also about half the amount per ac our contemporary to say that his arguments were generally written in good taste, and showed on the face of them that the writer was sincere. We cannot, therefore, avoid expressing our disgust at the following sentence in an article in Satur-day's Atlas :-" The Weekly Register has shown itself desirous of attaining an ignominious pre-eminence in opposing every-thing manly, straightforward, and constitutional; and in supporting everything mean, tyrannical, and unjust." nesitatingly declare this to be grossly discreditable to the pen that Great fears were entertained that the crops would suffer materially from the want of fine weather for harvesting; there had been a succession of showers and cold winds, and a few days' sunshine was n.uch required.

£22,565 was voted for the service of New Zealand. It was stated that Go-allowing of not an hour's relaxation or absence, and requiring a peculiarly patient and methodical disposition of mind, and neat or even petry turn of hand,—our notion is that less than fifty acres would not be worth while to cultivate. The filature ought to be in or near a town, and the plantation at no great distance from the filature, at least from the feeding place. The workers ought to be classed according to their aptness and expertness, and the greater or less simplicity of the different operations. The feeders must be in attendance eighteen hours of the twenty-four, and pust tions. The feeders must be in attendance eighteen hours of the twenty-four, and must be divided into two or even three sets, relieving each other every nine or six hours. The processes of feeding and cleaning must be as systematic as clock-work. After the workers are brought together for the season, which may commence at ist September, by using the Cape mulberry leaves for the early stages of the early stages of the untrue, and discreditable to the pen that wrote it. On nearly every political point of importance we differ entirely from the Register; but we consider it only an act of common justice to express our opinion that the charges in the Atlas are unfounded.

Exact adherence to system is necessary in the number of insects on each tray, in the dimensions of the trays, in the times and quantities of leaves wherewith they are fed, in the temperature and ventilation of the apartment, in protecting the moulting and facilitating the spinning worm, in guarding against noises smell, damp, cold drafts, and vermin, in preserving, and hastening, or retarding, the hatching of the eggs, and in a thousand other little matters. Any deviation from rule will tend to enfeeble the insect and deteriorate the silk. For this reason, and on account of the delicate handling required, we are rather surprised that the American should recommend the comployment of adults, at least of men. It appears to us that if some difficulty might at first be experienced in fixing the volatile strention of children, an advantage of greater amount would ensue, from the early training of their tiny fingers to the nice touch and mechanical dexterity desired.

with a reserve for their use and benefit of one-eleventh of all land surveyed; their territorial rights being previously purchased by a Com-missioner to be appointed for that purpose, and themselves being placed upon the same footing as other British subjects. To carry this scheme effectually into execution, it was proposed to establish a new Company with a capital of one million, to be called the Victoria Company, into which the present New Zealand Company, should be merged. To this new Company, all powers of government within the province were to be conceded by charter, as in the cases of Pennsylvanis and Maryland, with the power of making laws and imposing taxes, for one year, of its own mere authority; but after that period having no authority of tax-ation, except by the consent of the free men of the province of their representatives. The laws of England were to be in force until altered by the local authorities, but the laws passed by the latter were not to be repugnant to those of England. The Company was also to possess the power of making incorporations, to those of England. The Company was also to possess the power of making incorporations, and was to be required to incorporate into towns and counties all districts surveyed by its order. No land was to be sold within the new province until it had been actually surveyed, and then at a price of not less than 25s. per acre, of which 15s. was to be applied to the and then at a price of not less than 25s. per acre, of which 15s. was to be applied to the purposes of emigration, while one-tenth of the whole amount realised from the sale of lands should always be applied to religious endowments and education. The Company's emigration was to be placed under the superintendence of the Land and Emigration Commissioners; and the New Province was to bear its proportion of the public debt of New Zealand. With regard to the military and naval defence of the province, it was proposed that the Company should have the power of raising troops and militia, and of equipping vessels, as in the old charters, and if the presence of regular troops was required, the whole of their pay and expenses was to come from the Treasury of the Company, while stationed in the province or employed in its defence; but this stipulation was of course not meant to apply when Great Britain should be at war with any foreign power. As a check upon the proceedings of the Company, it was proposed that all its proceedings, correspondence, &c., should be minuted and laid before the Secretary of State on demand, and that vearly reports of all its transetions.

ceedings of the Company, it was proposed that all its proceedings, correspondence, & & , should be minuted and laid before the Secretary of State on demand, and that yearly reports of all its transactions, accounts, & e., should be laid before the Parliament within a fortnight of its meeting. That which was conceived, however, to be the principal check upon the proceedings of the Company, was the power which would be possessed by the Parliament of altering or rescinding the terms of its charter, whenever there might appear an occasion for so doing. It was proposed that the remainder of the northern island not included within the limits of the proposed new province, should be formed into a separate government, as nearly as possible under the system established by the mission-agies, and that European immigration account of the great number of aboriginal inhabitable land. It was thought desireable, moreover, that this northern part of the present colony, should remain in the possession of the Crown, from its importance as a naval station commanding the Pacific, and from its being the sole repository of the Kauri timber, so valuable for naval purposes.

INQUEST.—On Saturday last, an inquest was held at William West's public-house, at the corner of Liverpool and Susaex streets, on the body of an infant named John Purcell, aged eleven months. It appeared the deceased had had a fall about three weeks ago, and became unwell. Mr. Patrick Walsh Mallon, Surgeon, who had been called in to attend deceased, found him labouring under dentition, but not hearing any thing of the fall till about the time of the infant's death Mr. Mallon decemed it a proper case to be enquired into. As it appeared by his evidence at the inquest that deceased was labouring under severe dentition, and that during all the time he professionally attended the infant, the mother was always very attentive to it, and treated it affectionately. The jury found a verdict of died from natural causes.

Committal pon Homes-Straling.—About three weeks ago, Sergeant Thomas Burrowes, of the Sydney Police, went to Stephenson's public-house, bottom of Brickfield Hill, where he saw a man named Samuel White sell a valuable brood mare, heavy in foal, and a fine colt by her side, to Tracy, the horse and cattle dealer, for £11; after the sale had been cf-fected, and a receipt given, Burrowes took White into custody, and secured both the horses and the money. An advertisement was inserted in the Sydney Morning Herald on the following day by the police, describing the property: so that if the owner should see the advertisement, he would recognise the animals as his property; since then a small settler at Hartley, named John Macauley, having seen the advertisement, came to Sydney, and identified the animals as having been stolen from his farm about a week before the advertisement appeared. White, on his apprehension, having been sent to Hyde Park Barracks, and identified as a man who had very nearly done his additions preparatory to his being free. He was detained till Saturday last, when he was brought before the Hyde Park Bench, and fully committed for trial. From information received since his apprehension, there is reason to believe that he has for a considerable time past been extensively concerned in the stealing of cattle and horses from the Hartley District. The above is another instance of the advantages of promptly advertising stolen property when in the hands of the COMMITTAL POR HORSE-STRALING .- Abou instance of the advantages of promptly adver-tising stolen property when in the hands of the day. The prisoner was remanded for further examination.

A SMASHER CAUGHT.—Between cleven and twelve o'clock on Friday night, George Polton, (a freed man, and well known at the Police Court by his frequent appearances in the dock there,) accompanied by another man and a female, entered Lowater's public-house, at the corner of Market and York streets, where Polton called for three nobiers of gin, these were drunk, an't three more called for, Polton then pulled out a handful of money, consisting of notes and silver, from which he took half-a-crown, and laid it on the counter to pay for the reckoning. Mrs. Lowater handed it to her husband to see if it was good, but he not being very attentive to the sign she made him to look at the prisoner, threw it into the till, and gave the change, on which the three left the place, when the landlady informed her husband that the tall man who had just gone out was the same individual who had attempted to pass a bad half-crown on them, a few evenings before: Lowater immediately went to the till, and found that the one he had taken was as bad as the one he had previously refused, on which he followed Polton, and having seized him within fifty yards of his own door, handed him over to a constable; on searching the prisoner, between £6 and £7 in silver and note, was within fifty yards of his own door, handed him over to a constable; on searching the prisoner, between £6 and £7 in silver and notes was found on him. The prosecutor also informed the Beneh that the prisoner had no fixed place of abode, nor any visible means of earning a livelihood; that since he came to the Court, another person had recognised Polton as the man he had seen a few evenings before at tempting to pass a base shilling in another public house. Lowater stated also to the Bench, that base silver coin of every description is so plentiful at present, that he has sometimes had it tendered to him three times in one day. The prisoner was remanded for further examination.

COMMITAL FOR ROBBING IN A DWELLING HOUSE WITH FIRE-ARMS.—William Britt, the runsway convict, who was committed by the Hyde Park Court in the early part of the week for having presented a pistol at Mr. Davidson, of the Sydney College, on the Botany Road, and robbing him of money and other property, was brought up again on Saturday, and identified as the man who had twice robbed a female residing at Newtown, by entering her house on pretence of lighting his pipe, and then by pulling out a pistol, compelling her to give him whatever money was in the house. He has also been committed for several other robberies; Joseph Ward, the ex-constable who fortunately for the public was the means of having this vagabond secured, when about to be discharged as a free man from Hyde Park Barracks, where he had been for identification, has for his activity in the matter, coupled with his general good character, been again received into the police.

STEALING — About moon on Friday last, one of Cadman's boats -crew entered Wella's public-house, Gloucester-street, and adstracted seven shillings from the till, with which he bolted off at full speed up Long's-lane, where constable M'Donnell secured him, and lodged him in the watch-house. The fellow, on seeing that he could not escape, threw away the money, which was afterwards picked up.

ELOPEMBNT.—A well-known wealthy publican, Matthew Charlton, residing in Cumberland-street, applied to the police on Saturday for assistance to discover his wife, who had eloped during the night. Besides a gold watch, value £40, which the deserted one had sent for to England, expressly for her use, she has taken with her money and other property to the value of £700.

TO SETTLERS, STOREKEEPERS, AND THE PUBLIC GENERALLY. IMPORTANT NOTICE. DAVID JONES AND CO., Wholesale and Retail Linen and Woollen Drapers, Silk Mercers, Hosiers, and Haberdashers, Glovers, Lacemen, Slopsellers, Hatters, &c., &c., avail themselves of the present opportunity to inform settlers and others, who, during the wool season, usually visit Sydney, that having completed their extensive alterations, and made great accessions to their already unrivalled stock, by recent importations from England, they are now in a position to offer the various articles hereunder enumerated, at such extremely low prices, as have never been before submitted to the public of New South Wales.

Messre. David Jones and Co. flatter themselves that as they have never lent themselves that as they have never lent themselves to the system of puffing, adopted by other houses, they can confidently rely on the present address being received as a genuine statement. They beg to remind settlers and others, that nearly the whole of their immense stock having been bought in the best English Murkets, on the most reasonable terms, they are enabled to offer the same fully 29 per cent. under houses purchasing in the colonial market. They particularly solidic a visit from their old customers, and promise them that by purchasing for each they will find advantages in their establishment which it is not in the power of any other house to offer.

The system of attaching prices to particular AVID JONES AND CO., Wholesale The system of attaching prices to particular goods, being only calculated to mislead, is purposely avoided. Drab moleskin trousers Silver grey ditto ditto Miller's drab ditto ditto White ditto ditto

PLAN ON VIEW AT THE MARY.

O The benefits attending property situated like the above estate, in the most thriving part of the city, must be evident. The susctioneer therefore feels that it would be superfluous for him to make any comments, and merely invites capitalists and others who are desirous of making a secure investment, to inspect the property, and convince themselves of the real advantages offered by this cale.

The abstract of the Title is now lying at the fice of W. Thurlow, Esq., Solicitor, Pitt-street, there is may be inspected.

"CAMPERDOWN COTTAGE."

This beautiful suburban residence was built by the present proprietor for his own occupation; it is replete with every convenience, and is situated on the high ground, which affords an extensive and beautiful panoramic view of Newtown, Botany Bay, Sydney, the South Pacific Ocean, Fort Phillip, and an uninterrupted view of the Parramatta Road, nearly as far as the Annandale Estate, beyond which the delighted eye rests on the Blue Mountain range.

This Cottage is detached, has a slated roof, and built of the very best materials—ranking in the Sydney Fire Insurance as a first-rate risk—well finished in every respect. The arrangements are of the most superior order, and contain a suite of four tooms on the ground floor, each 16 feet square, with entrance hall and passage through the house; in the basement there is an excellent kitchen—18 feet by 15 feet—fitted up with shelves, dresser, superior range, with boilers and ovens, &c. A spacious dry cool cellar, and laundry, Above the kitchen there is an excellent bedroom—18 by 16. The out-offices consist of two-stall stable, coach-house, and a substantial store; there is also an excellent well of water 40 feet deep, upon the premises, and never known to fail.

THE GARDEN.
The fore court is laid out with very great taste and skill, and is abundantly stocked with flowers and shrubs, enclosed with a very superior fancy fonce—giving to the whole an air of superiority seldom to be met with; there is also an excellent kitchen garden attached, which is capable of growing vegetables of all descriptions, the ground having been well prepared. been well prepared.

Cards of admission, to view the premises, can be obtained of Mr. Blackman.

Terms made known at time of sale. 8261
